

EMBODIED BEING

Terms & Conditions

Placeholder terms covering appointments, payments, cancellations and use of Embodied Being services.

Appointments

The final terms should confirm session duration, delivery format, punctuality expectations and how appointments are booked or rearranged.

Fees and payment

Fees, accepted payment methods, payment timing and any applicable refund arrangements should be clearly stated before booking.

Cancellations

The final policy should specify the notice period required to cancel or reschedule and any charge that may apply to late cancellations or missed appointments.

Scope and suitability

Services should be described accurately, including any circumstances in which another service or professional may be more appropriate.

Website information

Website content is general information and should not be presented as emergency, medical or crisis support.

Changes to these terms

The approved version should state when it was last updated and how clients will be informed about material changes.

Important: This is placeholder content created for website setup. It must be reviewed and replaced or approved by the practitioner before publication or client use.